It Smokes And Smells

The town's ever-smouldering, frequently-smoking dump was the subject of harsh criticism Monday night, when Selectman William Stewart asserted "We have to stop this burning".

"It smokes and it smells", he reminded his colleagues, in stressing that something has to be done.

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff said he is "in hopes" that something specific will come out of a study now underway by a committee authorized at the last town meeting.

However, Mr. Stewart said something more immediate must be done - such as ordering the burning stopped.

In answer to one question, it was

Go Ahead Given For Shelter

The town will have its fallout shelter, located on the Shaw property on Main st.

The Selectmen and builder Robert Rabenius agreed Monday on erecting the shelter on the town-owned site. Mr. Rabenius, as a member of the Lawrence Home Builders Association, offered to secure the materials and put up the structure. The town will assume the insurance, it was noted, and will have the place manned on a regular

Some Tax Bills Are Up Slightly

A few taxpayers have anxiously been inquiring why their tax bills went up two or three dollars this year, when the rate remained at $26 and their assessments were unchanged.

The difference results from a "rounding off" of assessment figures to the nearest hundred, according to the Assessors. This step was taken, and publicized, in late spring. The new machinery in use at the town hall can be used to better advantage if it works with numbers rounded off in that fashion.

SWIMMING TROPHY - Ballardvale playground youngsters won the annual swimming trophy, as swimmers representing the playground piled up 22 points at a recent meet at Pomp's Pond. Carol and Betty Dustin, shown here with Playground Supervisor George Snyder, and their sister Terry accounted for 13 of the points. The playground will keep the trophy for the year, and it will automatically go to the playground winning the event next year.

Plans For Water Shop Being Considered

The Selectmen will decide this week whether to approve expenditures for preliminary plans on the water department shop.

Apparently two questions bothered the Board, and served to hold up action:

Foremost in the mind of Selectman Russell G. Doyle is the contractual obligations assumed by the town when it initially hires an architect. He wondered whether preparation of preliminary plans, even if the structure is not built, obligates the town to pay the full fee of seven percent of construction cost.

Secondly, some sharply-probing questions were asked about the size of the building, where it would be located, and whether it will serve the needs of the department adequately.

The three members of the Board present Monday night - Mr. Doyle, Chairman Eugene A. Bernardin Jr. and William Stewart - agreed to confer later in the week after Mr. Doyle has a chance to discuss the problems with persons experienced in the architectural field.

During a lengthy discussion Monday night, Town Manager Thomas E. Duff told the Board that $20,000 is all that is available for the building, and suggested that plans for a 50 x 51 foot building be drawn. He said this probably would be constructed on a slab, and thought there were two or possibly three sites at the town yard on Lewis st. where it could be located.

However, he also warned the Board that only a shell of a building can be built for this money, and suggested that appropriations could be planned for the next several years to bring it up to full usage.

Bond Bids In Sept. 7

Bids on the sale of bonds worth $865,000 will be received Sept. 7, to pay for the new elementary school on Lovejoy rd.

The Merchants National Bank of Boston has handled the preparation of specifications, and acts as the town's agent in the sale of the bonds. The bonds will be in multiples of $1,000, covering a 15-year period.

Parenthetically, the Selectmen fail to rejoice over at least one fact concerning the bonds - the members must hand sign all 865 bonds. This chore takes several hours and much concern about permanent writer's cramp before it is finished.

Water Show At Pomp's Aug. 27

With less than two weeks left in the official season, Pomp's Pond is bringing many of its activities to a conclusion.

All classes have another week to run, ending officially Sept. 1. Pins and certificates will be awarded to children successfully completing the courses.

A beginners' test was given last Friday, with the following children meeting the requirements: Christine Boshar, John Dubrule, Elizabeth Hills, Thomas Jacobs, Kyle Knipe, Barry Long, Dennis Tetreault, Steven Tetreault and John Young.

Playgrounds Held Final Special Events Last Week

Final events were held last week at the town's playgrounds.

West Center held a doll and stuffed animal show, with Janice Richards winning the gold medal.

Other winners were Joyce Gilford, Catherine LaRochelle, Janice Gilford, Ann Lebreck, Donna Devine, Maryann Conlon, Susan McDonald, Jane Lebreck and Jay Pennick.

Central held a pie-eating contest, with these results: ages three and under, Carolyn Collins, Joan McAtamney and Billy Emmert; four years, Trudie Batchelder, Mark Hamilton and Heather Craig; ages five and six, Joseph Buck, Susan Legros and Susan Willson; seven years old, Robin Brown, Melissa Sherman and Richard Stoddard; eight years, Peter Legros, Billy Broderick, Nancy Buck; nine years, David Buck, Jack Wilson and David Knipe; ages 10-

Civil Defense, on the state level at least, is "cooling its heels" according to local director Lee E. Noyes.

He reported to the Selectmen Monday night that there has been no effort by the state to promulgate a program, during this critical period. Funds are lacking, he stated, and employees of the state agency seem afraid that their jobs may be in peril.

Locally, he noted, there has been considerable public interest in fallout shelters, and literature about these is available at the Selectmen's office, police station and Library.

Mr. Noyes said the local communications group is excellent, with 26 mobile units; and he classified the auxiliary police, with 18

Meeting Sought On Brook Job

The Selectmen, with Representatives Arthur Williams and William Longworth and Senator Thomas Rurak, will attempt to confer with Waterways Division personnel late this week over Rogers Brook.

A decision to call a "summit" meeting was made after the town manager reported he can get no specific answers from that state agency.

He said the acting director is reported to be studying all the projects for which commitments were made, in relation to the available money. However, the state agency has repeatedly promised Andover that the money is available, and that the project will be undertaken.

11, Fred Cheney, John Gray and Cathy Smith; 12 and over, Jimmy Barrett, Peter Buck and Jean Buck.

Ballardvale also staged a pie-eating contest. Winners were: Ages five and under, Donna Tardiff, Jimmy Gardner and Robbie St. Armand; ages 6-7-8, Clayton Rogerson, Kevin Donovan and Karen Verda; ages 9-10-11, Jack Cochrane, Bob Demers and Peter Mullett; 12 and over, first place, Don Wrigley.

No Hunting Signs Ready

"No Hunting" signs will be posted on all access roads to the town, following a vote of town meeting last March.

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff has told the Selectmen that aluminum signs have been made by the traffic sign division, at a cost of $2.14 per sign.

The by-law adopted at town meeting actually allows hunting, but the land owner's written permission must be secured in each case.

ESTATE VALUED

AT $30,000

James H. Hindman of Castle Heights rd. left an estate valued at more than $30,000 when he died July 14, according to his will filed in the Registry of Probate.

The property goes in trust to his widow, Marion D. Hindman. A bond filed with the will said the testator left real estate worth about $20,000 and personal property valued at over $10,000 but not exceeding $100,000.

He also left two minor children, Robert D. and Carol H. Hindman.

Schlott Interests Moving To Plaza

The Schlott interests will move their fuel oil and accessories business to the Shawsheen Plaza, it was revealed Monday night to the Selectmen.

The firm has received permission to store 150,000 gallons of fuel oil in underground tanks behind the Plaza. In explaining the reason for this request, it was noted that the firm will occupy a store there, and conduct its oil business from the site.

The tanks will be underground, but there will be a loading platform for delivery trucks, it was stated.

FAMILY COOKOUT

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Anderson of Ballardvale rd. held a family chicken barbecue at their home Sunday.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Anderson and family of Haverhill, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bailey and sons of Highland Mills, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Burton Batcheller and family, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Webb and daughters and Mr. and Mrs. William Batchelder and daughters.

Miss Leslie Batcheller of Center st. has been visiting Miss Marion Pitts in Leicester.

May Surface High Street

High st. may be surfaced this year, if enough Chapter 90 funds are left over from work on Dascomb rd.

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff informed the Selectmen Monday night that the bad surface on sections of the street certainly will be repaired - but was somewhat doubtful that sufficient funds will be available.

The Board was told by Gordon Courts, a resident of the street, that the residents will present a petition against using the street for snow hauling this winter, unless it is paved. He explained that heavy trucks using the street in the middle of the night are annoying to residents, and blamed the condition of the road for much of the noise that disturbs slumber.

Town trucks and those hired for snow removal use the street whenever snow removal is required - usually late into the night and again before normal waking hours.

When you receive a pay raise it's fun and only natural to think first of all the ways you can spend this extra money.

However, it's also a good time to review your savings program. Why? Because the real secret of financial progress and success lies in stepping up your savings in proportion to your wage increases.

So remember. . . next time you get a raise, don't forget your savings account. It deserves a raise too. . . perhaps one that is long overdue.

SHELTER WILL BE CONSTRUCTED

Director Lee E. Noyes said various groups will be asked to send personnel, who will be available to hand out literature and explain the shelter.

Local merchants, he said, will be asked to loan the type of furnishings that would best be used in a shelter of this type.

The building will be available for inspection for a 60-day period.

The town officials said they believe the construction of the shelter would be worthwhile, as it would tend to emphasize the importance of individual initiative in providing shelter for one's family.

They also felt that many persons could best understand the simplicity of a basement shelter if they saw it, rather than merely seeing blueprints.

Members of the Board also expressed their personal conviction that home owners should not be taxed extra for the shelter - but this is a question now confronting the state tax commissioners, who will provide a uniform answer for the state.

Your Friends and Neighbors Like To SHOP CO-OP

MRS. WILLIAM J. ARSENAULT
26 Allen St. North Andover

Mrs. William Arsenault is one of many hundreds of local home makers who like to shop at the Andover CO-OP. This is what Mrs. Arsenault says:

"I like to SHOP CO-OP because: I have seen it come of age. I joined the CO-OP when it was a buying club and didn't even have a store! It has given me great pleasure to be part of this group of local private citizens who banded together and through co-operation take care of their own needs in the face of stiff outside competition... and succeed. I think the 'do-it-yourself' movement needs encouragement and I will do all I can to help it grow."

The above is one customer's reason for marketing at our store. There are other reasons which appeal to other people.

What are YOU looking for at your source of supply for groceries? The chances are that we have it in abundance.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Build It Properly

Under authority from town meeting, the town is about to undertake the construction of a water department building at the town yard on Lewis st.

And we're disturbed that the structure may be of an inadequate size, even before it reaches the drawing boards.

It is contemplated to erect a 50 x 51 foot building, one story, no cellar.

The building must house at least two of the department vehicles. The remainder can be utilized for storage and workshop.

Last March, $20,000 was appropriated for this purpose - and it appears to us that the building is being tailored to meet the money, not the actual needs of the department.

In a presentation to the Selectmen Monday night, Town Manager Thomas E. Duff said the building could be expanded if needed; and he explained that additional storage can be handled in a separate structure - possibly a corrugated shed. He also said that only the bare shell of a building can probably be constructed for the money available.

It seems to us, as we put together the pieces, that the proposed building may all-too-soon be inadequate.

It would make more sense to have preliminary plans drawn for an adequate building, then find out what this will cost. If it is more than the amount available, town meeting can be requested to appropriate additional funds. We believe the voters would rather spend a few extra dollars than to be called upon within a couple of years for an addition to the building. Constructing additions, we believe, is painfully expensive as compared to building the structure in its proper size.

Death Knell For Rogers Brook?

Rogers Brook is making headlines again - and possibly for the last time.

The town fathers are making an effort to team up with the district's representatives and senator, for the purpose of putting the pressure on the state Division of Waterways for release of the project.

It has been held up, as can easily be imagined, because of the scandal attached to the Division in recent weeks and months.

As we understand the situation, the acting-director is attempting now to find out how much the director promised various communities, in reference to the money available. It appears that there may have been verbal promises that exceed the cash-in-hand.

Andover unwittingly has become embroiled in the problems of that Division, and we may well suffer from it. Previously published statements of the director indicate that he pledged the state to not only match the $175,000 appropriated by the town, but to also pay some extra expenses because the job can't be done for the total of $350,000. In effect, we wonder whether the difference between this figure and the actual construction cost can be paid by the state, or whether this is a promise that will never be fulfilled.

We hope, in any event, that the promises are valid, but we somehow doubt that they are.

No Time For Politics

The Civil Defense mess we've been hearing about - the lack of funds on the state level and an absence of direction from that agency - should be cleared up at once.

According to local officials, the state seems to be providing very little, or nothing at all, in the way of leadership during a period when most citizens are particularly interested, even anxious, about their own protection.

It has been explained that federal funds are not available to the state because the Legislature in its "wisdom" did not provide civil service standing for the employees of the state agency. Those federal funds normally are shared, via the state, with local CD agencies on a matching basis. Thus equipment that is needed here can not be purchased, unless at full retail value.

The poor morale in the state agency is evident in its unwillingness to offer leadership and advice to the local groups; local CD agencies do not wish to take the initiative in areas of responsibility that actually belong to the state. In fact, most local CD groups need to be instructed about shelters, for example, and can not go their own way with any success.

Governor Volpe has indicated his willingness to call a special Legislative session on this subject - and we believe he should do so without delay. Civil Defense on the state level should no longer be a political matter, nor should its employees be placed in the position of always fearing that political favorites can be appointed any time, replacing long-time employees.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago - August, 1911

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Drescher have moved into Miss Florence Parkes' newly remodelled house on Chestnut st.

Dennis Sweeney, one of the local rural mail carriers, is having his vacation. Clarence E. O'Connell is substituting.

Sale has been completed of the residence on School st. owned by Mrs. C. N. Chamberlain, and occupied by C. E. F. Clarke. The purchaser is George L. Selden, a Lawrence manufacturer, who will occupy the home.

Misses Loyola and Sarah Coyne of Providence, R. I., are visiting in town.

Dane and Lee were the Ballardvale battery at the game in Derry, N. H., Saturday. It was a "blood game", and manager Trow had gotten a strong team together to represent the Vale.

Superintendent of streets Milo H. Gould has had a pipe laid on Summer st. to carry away the water from the gutters.

25 Years Ago - August, 1936

The carnival being held in Shawshen came to a tragic end Wednesday evening, when a five-year-old lad fell into the river and drowned.

Straw balloting for president continues - the vote locally is 119 for Landon, 11 for Roosevelt and four for Lemke. The vote is part of a nation-wide effort by weekly papers to determine grass root sentiment.

Another old landmark is disappearing - wreckers this week are tearing down the old Dean block. It was built about 100 years ago by John H. Dean, who lived on an upper floor and ran a clothing store on street level. Despite changes in ownership, there has continuously been a clothing store at that location, and a barber shop has occupied the other part of the structure.

Brakes failed to hold a heavy dump truck backing up to the town dump on High st., allowing it to roll over the embankment and down some 30 feet to the dump floor. It took five hours and several huge wreckers to get the vehicle back onto the road, when it was found that the truck was not badly damaged and could continue under its own power. The fire department stood by and wet down a fire that smoldered continuously near the truck.

Edward Shattuck of West Andover, a member of the State Milk Control Board, has been appointed director of the Division of Dairying and Animal Husbandry in the State Department of Agriculture. William Harnedy was elected grand knight at the first K. of C. meeting in the new Park st. quarters.

10 Years Ago - August, 1957

There is keen interest in the new Board of Trade, proposed a few weeks ago. The first meeting of all interested persons will be held Sept. 5 at the Square and Compass Club, and is being sponsored by the merchants' committee of the Service Club.

A Lowell st. home was broken into over the weekend, and police are investigating. The intruder jumped through a screen on the second floor when he heard the owner return - then fell through an awning and landed in a flower bed.

The Boosters Club is planning a paper drive Sept. 30 and urges all residents to save their newspapers until that time.

Forrest Noyes and Chet Harnden tied for first place at a recent trap shoot held by the Sportsman's Club.

SCHOOLS WILL OPEN THURSDAY, SEPT. 7

Public schools will open in Andover Sept. 7 - the Thursday after Labor Day. Supt. Edward I. Erickson explained that teachers' workshops will be held Tuesday and Wednesday of that week.

Winnie-the-Pooh

"Winnie-the-Pooh", by Alexander Lenard, the Latin version of the beloved children's classic "Winnie-the-Pooh", was a runaway best-seller last year. This year Eduardus Ursus, Christophorus Robines and their companions continue their adventures on disc. Dudley Fitts reads the story on this Spoken Arts recording now in the library's collection.

Other Spoken Records

The summer may give the leisure necessary to listen to poetry and other kinds of spoken records. The following will be found at the Library: "Poems of William Butler Yeats", read by Yeats, Siobahn McKenna and Michael MacLiammoir; Anthony Quayle reading Elizabethan Sonnets and Lyrics; Caedmon Treasury of Modern Poets Reading Their Own Poetry; Emlyn Williams as "Charles Dickens"; "Morris Carnovsky reading the Psalms; Dylan Thomas, "Under Milk Wood"; Art of Ruth Draper "Richard Wilbur reading his own poems"; "Golden Treasury of American Verse"; read by Alexander Scourby and Nancy Wickwire. Yale has recorded a whole series of modern poets reading their poetry, of which the library has Dudley Fitts, Stanley Kunitz, Robert Lowell and Allen Tate.

Story Hours

The last story hour of the summer season will be held in the Children's Room, Wednesday morning - August 23 at 10:15. Mrs. Margaret Berry will tell stories around the theme "Princes and Princesses", using the well-known stories "Many Moons", "The Rat Catcher's Daughter" and "The Tinder Box".

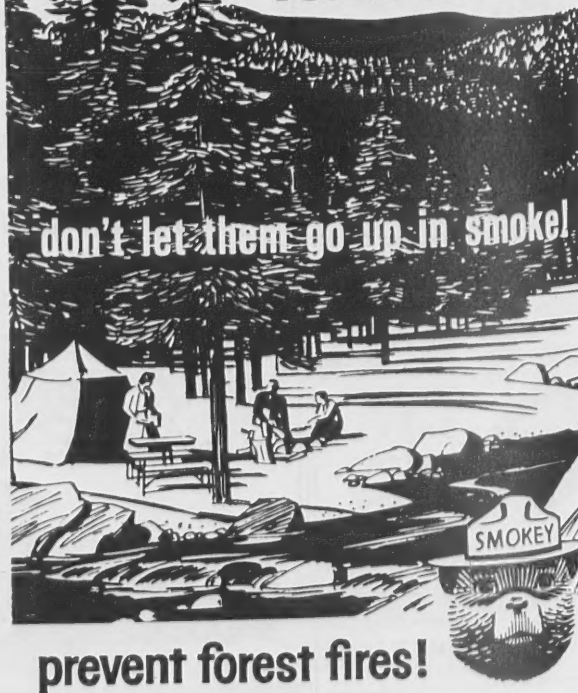

Civil War Exhibit

Harold F. Baker, 84 High st. has arranged a display of ammunition used during the Civil War, which will be of interest to many besides "Civil War buffs". The exhibit includes a 54 calibre Burnside carbine; a variety of cartridges of many sizes, one of particular interest "made of Hazard's powder expressly for Colonel Colt's new model revolving holster pistol", and balls for muzzle loading percussion cap rifles as well as minnie balls.

So the public can get a good closeup of Friday's eclipse of the moon - which the Museum says will be the biggest New England sky event of the year - Science Park is being equipped with a variety of telescopes for their use. The telescopes will be manned by members of the Museum's Planetarium staff and its Junior Astronomy Workshop, who will also be available to answer questions about this heavenly "spectacular."

Weather permitting, it should be a good show. And certainly it seems very unlikely that the weather will be as hard on viewers as was the last lunar eclipse visible in this area. That one took place on March 13, 1960, in freezing temperatures, amid falling snowflakes and a thick cloud layer that made viewing pretty hopeless.

The eclipse begins at 8:37 p.m. EDT, when the moon enters the penumbra, or light outer shadow. The prime viewing hours will be between 9 p.m. and 1 a.m., with the moment of mid-eclipse - when the greatest part of the moon is covered - at 11:09.

MEETING TONIGHT FOR EARLY BIRDS

The Early Birds Bowling League will meet tonight at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. John Duke on River st., Ballardvale.

Bowling will resume Sept. 7.

miniscences, biographies, histories. Good novels, particularly by such people as McKinlay Kantor in his "Andersonville" and Stephen Crane in his "Red Badge of Courage", frequently make an impact upon the reader and bring an immediacy lacked by some factual books. Three recordings, also, may prove interesting: "The Confederacy", based on music of the South during the years 1861-'65; "A Lincoln Reader", read by Carl Sandburg from his studies; "Abraham Lincoln the Prairie Years and the War Years"; "John Brown's Body" by Stephen Vincent Benet, with Tyrone Power, Judith Anderson and Raymond Massey.

Useful Book Lists

The library has just received the new edition of "Good Reading", prepared by the Committee on College Reading; the "Fiction Catalog of 1960", which lists 4,097 works of fiction in the English language with annotations; "Short Story Index," a supplement covering the years 1955-1958, which indexes 6,392 stories in 376 collections.

Car - Tree Crash

Police are continuing to investigate an automobile accident at 12:44 a.m. Tuesday on River rd., which sent a South Lawrence woman to the hospital in serious condition.

Mrs. Patricia Tisbert, 92 Sullivan ave., Lawrence, was operating the vehicle westerly on River rd., when it went off the road and crashed into a tree. The impact occurred near the old North District School.

Patrolmen Jacob Jacobson, Henry Gialmo and Russell Berthel investigated. Mrs. Tisbert was taken to the hospital in the fire department ambulance, by Alfred C. Derosier and Norman Auchterlonie.

BOND BIDS TO BE RECEIVED

According to Town Manager Thomas E. Duff, financing for the new school has been worked out this way:

Bond issue, $865,000; free cash, $34,481.25; transfer from South School account, $18,000; transfer from High School account $16,621.78; and a transfer from the West School account, $3,471.97. The total is $937,575.

The manager's analysis of costs shows the following breakdown:

General construction, $740,000; supervision, $62,772.62; equipment, $60,000; site development, $60,000; advertising, $250; insurance, $2,000; contingencies, $12,552.38. Thus the total cost will be $937,575. Planning and development costs to date have been $8,997.38 - thus the true total cost is $946,572.38.

Mr. Duff notes that the town's new public and institutional property form of insurance covers the new structure and additional fire insurance will not be necessary. The town's insurance provides a floater policy in the amount of $7,000,000 for municipal buildings.

Work is expected to move forward swiftly at the school, following the award late last week of the contract to Champy Construction Co. of Lawrence, on a low bid of $726,595.

Mr. Duff also has explained that the full cost of $946,572.38 has been reported to the state on the proper forms, so that state assistance can be obtained.

Dear friends,

There is a growing tendency to make funeral plans before death, in somewhat the same manner as a will.

A written list of requests, left where the family can find it readily, is certain to lift a burden from those left behind.

Should you desire to talk this matter over with us in confidence, it is entirely appropriate to do so.

Respectfully,

Donald E. Lundgren

DUMP CONTINUES AS A NUISANCE

stated that refuse from Tye Rubber Co. poses quite a problem because it throws up heavy smoke and burns for a long time. However, Mr. Duff said he had been unsuccessful when he asked the firm not to burn the refuse, just to dump it.

He also noted that the Raytheon Co. dumps material there, and the firm's employees are under orders to stay at the dump until the refuse burns up. This takes a relatively short time he said.

Selectman Stewart emphasized repeatedly that more adequate control of burning should be instituted. Mr. Duff explained that the caretaker of the dump often is busy in one place when truck loads of material are dumped elsewhere and the drivers light the material before they leave.

Mr. Duff also told the Board about air pollution districts that have been authorized by the Legislature, and noted that the state department of public health will not immediately and severely enforce the law, allowing communities time to work out their own problems.

There was no specific decision by the Board, other than once again calling attention to the smelly pall of smoke that hangs over West Andover areas a considerable part of the time.

members, as being ready to assume whatever duties are required in an emergency.

The mass feeding problem is being solved, he stated, with the recruitment of personnel to man two field stoves.

Volunteers are needed for first aid units, and the medical unit is also in need of voluntary help from community doctors.

Mr. Noyes said the hospital, housed at Phillips Academy, could be set up and then taken down in a weekend, if enough local medical men will give their time to this task. With state representatives, Mr. Noyes continued, the work could be done easily, and the doctors could become familiar with the hospital facilities. They will be using it, if a disaster occurs.

Mr. Noyes also reported that the town's emergency truck, fitted out with many kinds of heavy equipment, has been repaired and is in good running condition.

VA Testing Cancer Treatment

A new method of treatment for cancer, originated primarily by a Veterans Administration doctor, has produced such good results in early testing that it is being explored against cancers of all types at 24 VA hospitals across the nation.

This treatment will be administered in this area at the Boston VA hospital by Dr. Richard W. Dwight.

Known as local infusion, it enables doctors to concentrate large amounts of a cancer-destroying drug at the site of the tumor, while protecting the rest of the body against the drug by means of an antidote.

Dr. Robert D. Sullivan, of the Manhattan, N. Y., VA hospital, in cooperation with Dr. Marguerite P. Sykes of Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research in New York City, and others have pioneered in the introduction and development of this technique.

Infusion has been used against cancers of the head and neck and some pelvic cancers, including those of the cervix. Infusion of other body areas is under development. In a substantial percentage of cases, improvement has resulted.

In some cases, the results have been striking. The tumors have shrunk, and in some patients all signs of the cancer have disappeared for as long as 18 months. There is no proof yet that the disappearance will be permanent.

In cases in which the tumor did not disappear, it occasionally was reduced enough in size for effective surgery to be possible. In some cases in which the tumor disappeared and then began to grow again, further treatment by infusion was given and the cancer again died away.

The drug used is amethopterin (Methotrexate). It destroys the vitamin, folic acid, without which cancer cells die. The drug is pumped directly into the artery that supplies the cancer with blood, so that the concentration is highest in the tumor area.

The antidote, citrovorum factor, is injected into the patient's muscles several times a day, to protect the rest of his body from the amethopterin that escapes from the cancerous area.

The treatment is continuous over periods as long as three weeks. To make sure that the amethopterin will go directly into the tumor and be concentrated there, doctors test the blood supply to the cancer by an ingenious new means.

A dye is pumped into the artery believed to be supplying the cancer. If the artery is the one into which the cancer-fighting drug should go, the entire tumor will "light up" in the dark, as the dye in it glows under ultraviolet light.

Officials Hold Inspection Tour

Lieutenant General John H. Hinrichs, chief, U. S. Army Ordnance Corps, inspected production facilities at the Raytheon Co., Hawk Missile Plant Aug. 16. He was accompanied by Brigadier General John G. Zierdt, commanding general, Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency, and Colonel Maurice L. Driscoll, commanding officer, Boston Ordnance District.

The tour was followed by a conference with key Raytheon officials, including Raytheon President Richard E. Krafve; T. C. Wisenbaker, vice president and general manager, Aero/Weapons Division; Thomas L. Phillips, vice president and general manager, Missile and Space Division; David D. Coffin, vice president and group executive, Government Equipment and Systems Group; and A. E. Walden, Hawk plant manager.

Raytheon's Andover plant, which employs over 7,000, serves as primary production facility for the Army's Surface-to-Air Hawk Missile System.

Hawk is specifically designed to intercept and destroy high performance, low flying aircraft, but it is equally effective against targets at medium-to-high altitudes. Employing a unique radar "eye" that can penetrate the blind zone of conventional radar, the missile has outstanding ability to destroy invaders even at tree-top level while ignoring stationary objects and vehicles on the ground.

In 1960 the Hawk scored history's first kill of a ballistic missile by a guided missile when it intercepted and destroyed an Honest John Missile at White Sands, New Mexico. Later, it repeated the feat against the smaller Little John and the faster Corporal.

General Hinrichs, as Army Ordnance chief, directs the activities of 81 field installations in the United States employing 98,000 civilians and approximately 10,000 of the 45,000 Army officers and enlisted men engaged in Ordnance service world-wide.

He is responsible for annual expenditures in the order of three billion dollars for research and development, production and procurement, and maintenance of all Ordnance material for the Army, its sister services, the Army National Guard and Army Reserve, and for our allies overseas.

The Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency, commanded by Brigadier General Zierdt, has over-all responsibility for the Hawk Missile System. Its procurement is administered by the Boston Ordnance District.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnson and their son, Arthur, of High Plain rd., and Mrs. Harriet Lee of Haggitt's Pond rd., returned recently from a two weeks' stay with relatives in Newport, Nova Scotia.

Mrs. Eugene Wohl and her children, Patricia and David, and Mrs. Robert Bonvini of Bridgeport, Conn., are enjoying a vacation with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wolfson of Argilla rd.
